

IEEE CREDENTIALING PROGRAM

IEEE Credentials: Creating Pathways for Professional Growth

As technology evolves rapidly, so does the need for verified credentials that recognize learning achievements and help employers find and promote qualified workers that fuel organizational growth.

The IEEE Credentialing Program offers a variety of benefits to meet your program needs.

CERTIFICATES

- ▶ Verified, sharable proof of course completion
- ▶ Includes PDH and CEU credits necessary for professional licensure

DIGITAL BADGES

- ▶ Awarded upon successful completion of a series of courses
- ▶ Verifiable and sharable to showcase learning accomplishments

MICROCREDENTIALS

- ▶ Signifies mastery of specific skills within a learning program
- ▶ Stackable to demonstrate growing expertise in a particular area

Being able to use the certificates through IEEE was such an easy process for me and saved me from days of work. Instead of inputting everyone's name from our conference into each individual certificate and then emailing the individual, I was able to send the list of names and have them go out within 1 week of our conference. I will be using this again for next year!"

HOW IT WORKS

- 1 Apply to the IEEE Credentialing Program to become an approved education provider.
- 2 IEEE reviews your organization, education offerings, instructor qualifications, and assessment methods.
- 3 Once approved, offer IEEE-verified credentials with your training programs, issued directly by IEEE.

Skills training has become an imperative as workers continue to seek opportunities for growth and development inside their company. A digital badging program can help L&D leaders retain these workers and increase the likelihood of them staying within the company long term."
